

The actions taken by Sinclair, to air a biased, propagandistic documentary that makes no effort to present "news" is a frightening example of what can and will happen when too few owners own too many media outlets.

How dare Sinclair commandeer its television stations to present the political preferences of its ownership! If they feel that strongly about any candidate let them pay for advertising, rather than hiding their objectives behind the veil of "news."

Shame on them for doing this, and shame on you for allowing it to happen.
